

CHISEL BRAND

Wordpress Spektrix Integration Plugin

A custom WordPress plugin that connects directly to the Spektrix v3 API, giving the performing arts organization full control over their patron experience — ticketing, donations, and account management — without handing patrons off to a third-party interface. Everything is branded to the theatre, lives on their own website, and works within their existing WordPress setup. Spektrix continues to handle what it does well: inventory, payments, and data.

THE PROBLEM AT KEEGAN

We had previously worked with The Keegan Theatre to set up their website using Spektrix's iframe solution, but the theatre was frustrated by a login flow that bounced patrons out of the purchase process mid-checkout. Patrons were confused by Flex Pass and subscription options, and asking for a way to see their upcoming reservations, pass use, donation history, and more. The theatre was considering switching CMS platforms entirely. Instead, we built this plugin and solved all of it.

WHAT WE BUILT

Ticketing Flows

On-site checkout with live seat maps, inline account auth, promo codes, Flex Pass, Season Tickets, and Gift Certificates — without leaving the site.

Donation Flows

One-time gifts by fund and monthly giving via tiers. Embeddable anywhere or triggered as a popup. Guest checkout supported.

Patron Dashboard

Self-service portal: upcoming tickets, passes used, order and donation history with printable tax receipts, profile, email preferences, and more.

Admin Interface

A full settings panel inside WordPress. Settings, API credentials, show images, and copy across all flows managed without touching code.

TECHNICAL APPROACH

Spektrix API v3 • HMAC-SHA1 auth • WordPress REST proxy • WP transient caching • Vanilla JS — no framework deps • Fully responsive • Session cookie passthrough • WordPress shortcodes

Working with a Spektrix client on WordPress? We'd love to build them a custom solution.
